Attorney-General Fitts is feeling the "moutonier"; he's gone to Cuba.

It may be a contest between lieutenant-governors, with the non-promotion rule knocked out in either case.

Of course President Tucker of Dartmouth college does not favor Taft, for the reason that Hughes is a Brown man. That's absurd.

Every little while we hear something about a man named Knox, then again about another man named Fairbanks, and still again about an Ohioan going under the name of Forsaker. Strange how those names slip from memory!

No more despicable act in the calendar of crime could be committed than the cowardly assassination of Father Leo Heinrichs in a Denver, Colorado, church on Sunday, by a man who crept up to the altar in the guise of a communicant of the church and while receiving the sacrament from the hand of a friendly priest shot him down in cold blood. The crime was done at the moment when, of all times, peace and good will ought to predominate.

QUARRELING OVER DATES OF FAIR

The trump of war has sounded, the ploughshares are being beaten into swords and the pruning-hooks are being turned into spears—figuratively speaking—in the agricultural fair business in Vermont. All of which is unfortunate. In commenting on the announcement that there is a conflict in dates between the Valley fair at Brattleboro and the state fair at White River Junction, the Brattleboro Reformer says:

"The state fair has chosen Sept. 29 and 30 and Oct. 1 and 2 as the dates of its next show, and the management is already beginning to give publicity to this fact through the state papers. The 23rd annual Valley fair will be held in Brattleboro Sept. 29 and 30 and Oct. 1, and it behooves the management to begin talking at once to the ears of prospective exhibitors and visitors are captivated by the strains from the state fair band wagon. What the local management should do is hire a good press agent and give the men behind the White River Junction project some genuine competition. The Valley fair with its record of 22 successes should be able to buck up against the infant 60 miles to the north."

The Brattleboro fair association is justified in gliding up its loins for the strife, for it has been called upon to battle for its life. In direct violation to the sentiment expressed in the legislature when the state fair bill was passed. The advocates of the measure insisted that the state fair would not be intended to back against any other agricultural exhibits in the state, and that was the understanding when the measure was passed and was signed by Governor Proctor.

But here we have competition the second year of the state fair's existence. Whose fault it is, we do not know. But we surmise that it was the state fair association's move, by mistake or design to take practically the same dates as those on which the Valley fair is usually held. One or the other ought to give way at once, and thus prevent failure for both.

CONG. FOSTER ON "JIM-CROW" LEGISLATION.

Most of his constituents will commend Congressman Foster of the first Vermont district for his stand against the adoption of "Jim-crow" railroad methods into the District of Columbia. Some southern representatives sought to incorporate in the railroad laws a section which would compel the railroads of the District to provide passenger cars with separate sections for the whites and blacks, as, for instance, in the home state of its mover, Mr. Hoffman of Alabama.

Congressman Foster made a vigorous protest against the adoption of the amendment and was upheld by several other representatives of the northern states. The Vermont congressman said in part as follows:
